Dear Carl,

I certainly have enjoyed knowing you & working with you, & I sincerely hope that our friendship may continue. I think you're a grand person —

Here's hoping our Quartette will really go places this summer & next term.

Best of luck to you —

The 1937
ALMANAC

Published by
BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HIGH SCHOOL
Los Angeles, California

THE FRIENDSHIP AND COOPERATION BETWEEN THE AMERICAS WHICH RECEIVED SPECIAL ATTENTION DURING THE LAST YEAR HAS BECOME A SYMBOL FOR THE YOUTH OF TODAY, AND IT WAS WITH THIS IN MIND THAT "PAN-AMERICA" WAS CHOSEN AS THE THEME FOR THE 1937 ALMANAC. THE STAFF HAD A TWOFOLD PURPOSE IN SELECTING THIS THEME: CONTINUED FRIENDSHIP FOR THE AMERICAS, AND FRIENDSHIP, A BASIC PRINCIPLE FOR FRANKLIN, THE "FRIENDLY SCHOOL."

IT HAS BEEN IN THE SPIRIT OF "PAN-AMERICANISM", . . . UNITY, COOPERATION, AND UNDERSTANDING . . . THAT THIS ALMANAC HAS BEEN CREATED, SO THAT THE WORK ACCOMPLISHED, FUN ENJOYED, AND THE FRIENDSHIPS FORMED AT FRANKLIN, MAY BE RETAINED AS PLEASANT MEMORIES IN THE MANY YEARS TO COME.

THE STAFF

IN SINCERE APPRECIATION FOR HER UNSELFISH DEVOTION, HER GENEROUS HELP, AND HER UNDER-STANDING SYMPATHY, THIS BOOK

ODE TO PAN-AMERICA

Oh! great ideal of unity,
Americas to bind;
To form a band of harmony,
Of purposes sublime,
Cemented close by common hopes,
Ambitions, and desires,
An everlasting fellowship,
To this we will aspire.

Oh! fine ideal of unity,
A band of love to form,
And spread benevolence and peace,
To guard from inner storm.
Kind fusing thoughts of guile bereft,
These only we express,
No other plan shall fill our minds,
Until we have impressed
Upon these great Americas,
A vivid consciousness,
A goal, a keen desire, a need,
For perfect friendliness.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANTS

- What would the citizens of Franklin do without the guidance of the administrative assistants?

The personnel office, under the supervision of genial Mr. Hoist, is a pleasant place to discuss all curricular problems. Miss Stimson is his efficient assistant.

Mr. Berger, the registrar, is also head of the C.C.B. court and oversees all matters pertaining to registration and attendance with fairness and justice. Miss Eckford assists him.

The attractive library is a place for adventure and study. Miss Mallory, the librarian, and clerk, Mrs. Corbett, have done much to make this place one of which to be proud.

The school secretary is the competent Mrs. Zinn.

Mrs. Kilmurray is secretary to Miss Hodgkins and Mr. Axe.

Mrs. Pitzenberger is in charge of textbooks, athletic eligibility, and assists with work in the counselor's office.

THE ONE I KNOW

Depths of life and heart unknown,
Thoughts which you alone have sown.
The life within you fully lived,
Because you had the strength to give.
They perhaps don't understand, and
Brand you as a foolish man.
And yet of you I know a part,
Your kindness healed a broken heart.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

• The trust and responsibility bestowed upon the Student Body officers by the Student Body, were accepted and fulfilled by the two wisely elected cabinets for the year '36 to '37.

Bob Smart and Ted West were the two presidents, admired and respected by the students and faculty alike for their personalities and leadership ability.

Justice to all with friendly advice and guidance was given by the vice-presidents who not only presided over the C.C.B. Court, but the Student Court as well. Lorraine Jones as girls' vice-president, and Jack Wilson, boys' vice-president during the fall term, and Vivian West and Jim Tillery for the spring term, served admirably in these capacities.

Athelene Harvey and Jean Traugher were the two efficient secretaries, for the fall and spring terms respectively.

ALMA MATER FRANKLIN HIGH

I

Stand we here, dear Alma Mater,
While we loyal voices raise
Ever in thy honor sharing
Gladly bringing thee our praise
Laughter in thy halls we've harkened
Chatter, sorrow, sometimes tears—
Only gladness we'll remember
In the swiftly fleeting years.

II

Friendships we have made at Franklin
Here are bonds both true and strong,
To these friendships now we proudly
Lift our loyal hearts in song.
Voice our praises fling them upward
Lift our tribute up on high
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, hail to Franklin High—

THE MOON

The moon, an actor on the stage of night,
His jovial countenance benign,
Pulls back the heavy curtain of the dark,
And beams upon his audience, the world.
Yet, though he strives throughout the play,
The interest of his audience to keep,
Alas! When it is finally done,
He finds them fast asleep.

COMPANY A

- Cadet First Lieutenant Bob Hall commanded Company A during the past term. Cadet Second Lieutenant Ronald Hohnsbeen commanded the first platoon.

Under capable leadership, it has become one of the crack units of the city. The drill has improved over the preceding semester.

The company consisted of select new men combined with previously trained men. This incorporation makes for rapid training and greater personal leadership.

COMPANY B

- B Company was commanded during the past semester by Cadet Captain Thomas Hendrix. The first platoon was commanded by Cadet Second Lieutenant Irving Silberman. The second platoon was commanded by Cadet First Sergeant Gordon Cairns.

Excellent leadership by the commissioned and non-commissioned officers caused B Company to display exceptional drill during the recent Federal Inspection. The Company demonstrated Formal Guard Mount, Interior Guard Duty, and Extended Order Drill for this inspection.

Company B acted as color company in all the parades and ceremonies for the past semester.

The company consisted of new men trained by experienced non-commissioned officers.

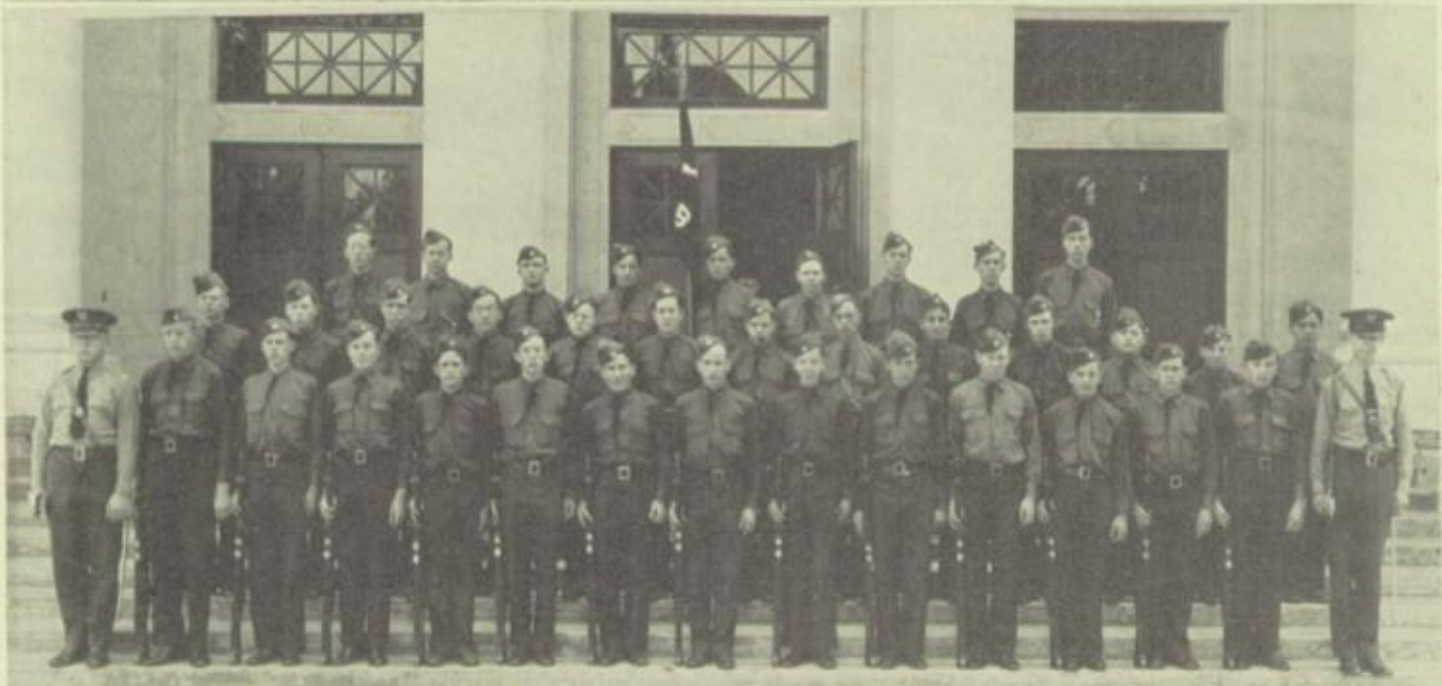

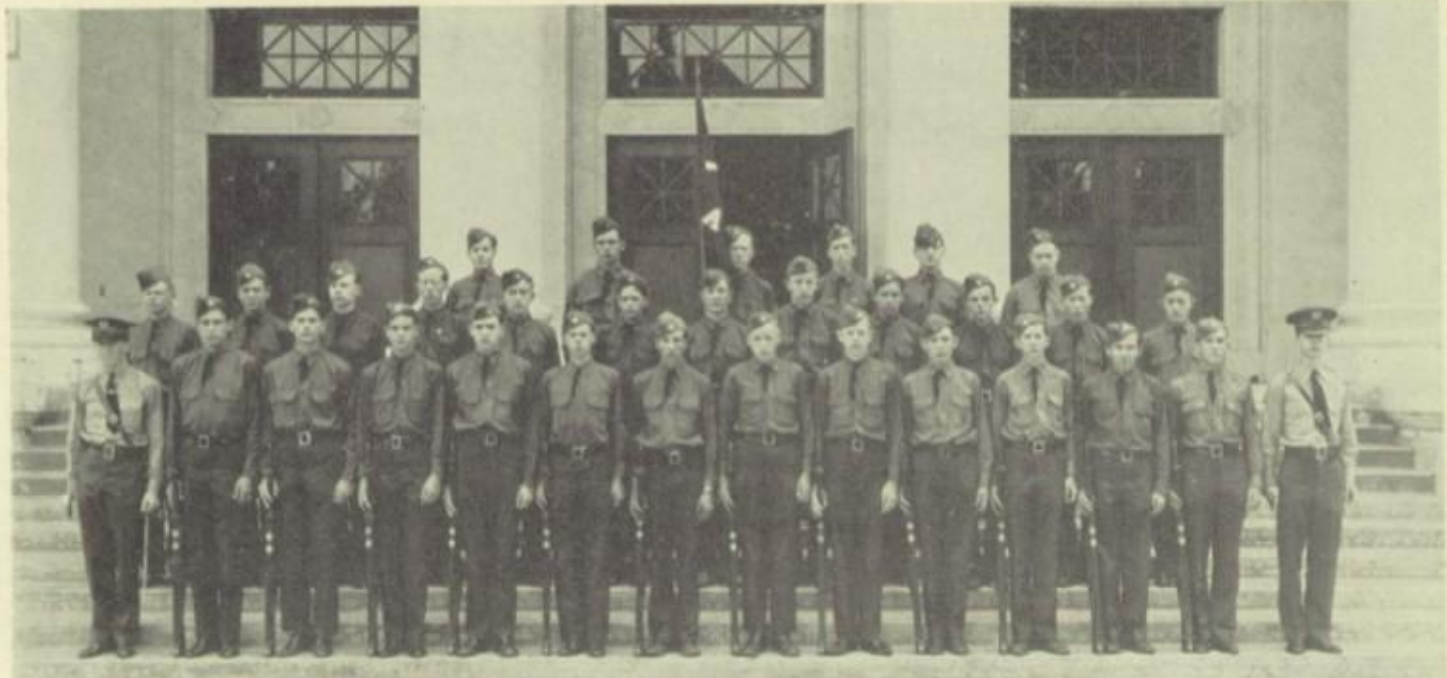

COMPANY C

- Company C was organized for the Federal Inspection because of tactical reasons. It was commanded by Cadet Captain Lee Moore. Cadet Lieutenant Harry Crisman commanded the first platoon and Cadet Sergeant Harry Lee commanded the second platoon.

C Company has established an enviable record for itself in the training of new recruits. This has been due to the efficiency and hard work of the officers and non commissioned officers of the company.

Great credit must be given to this company for the remarkable show which it put on during Federal Inspection.

R.O.T.C. STAFF

- The staff of the Reserve Officers Training Corps was reorganized this year to provide better administration with fewer members.

In the fall, the staff was composed of Cadet Major Robert Hubbs, Commanding; Cadet First Lieutenant Henry Brockschmidt, Adjutant; Cadet First Lieutenant Lee Moore, Ordnance Officer; Cadet First Lieutenant Thomas Hendrix, Personnel Officer; and Cadet First Sergeant Glyn Frank-Jones, Supply Sergeant.

The spring staff consisted of Cadet Major Henry Brockschmidt, Commanding; Cadet Captain Thomas Hendrix, Executive Officer, and Plans and Training Officer; Cadet Second Lieutenant Harry Crisman, Adjutant; Cadet First Lieutenant Bob Hall, Ordnance Officer; Cadet Second Lieutenant Irving Silberman, Personnel Officer; and Cadet Sergeant-Major Glyn Frank-Jones as Supply Sergeant, and Sergeant Major.

SABER AND CHEVRONS CLUB

- The Saber and Chevrons Club was organized to better the R.O.T.C., provide social functions for its members, and to coordinate the efforts of all leaders.

Club officers for the fall term were Cadet Major Robert Hubbs, president; Cadet First Lieutenant Thomas Hendrix, vice-president; Cadet First Lieutenant Lee Moore, secretary-treasurer.

The officers for the spring semester were Cadet Major Henry Brockschmidt, president; Cadet Captain Thomas Hendrix, vice-president; and Cadet Captain Lee Moore, secretary-treasurer.

First Lieutenant Henry R. Thompson, Staff Officer, is the faculty sponsor.

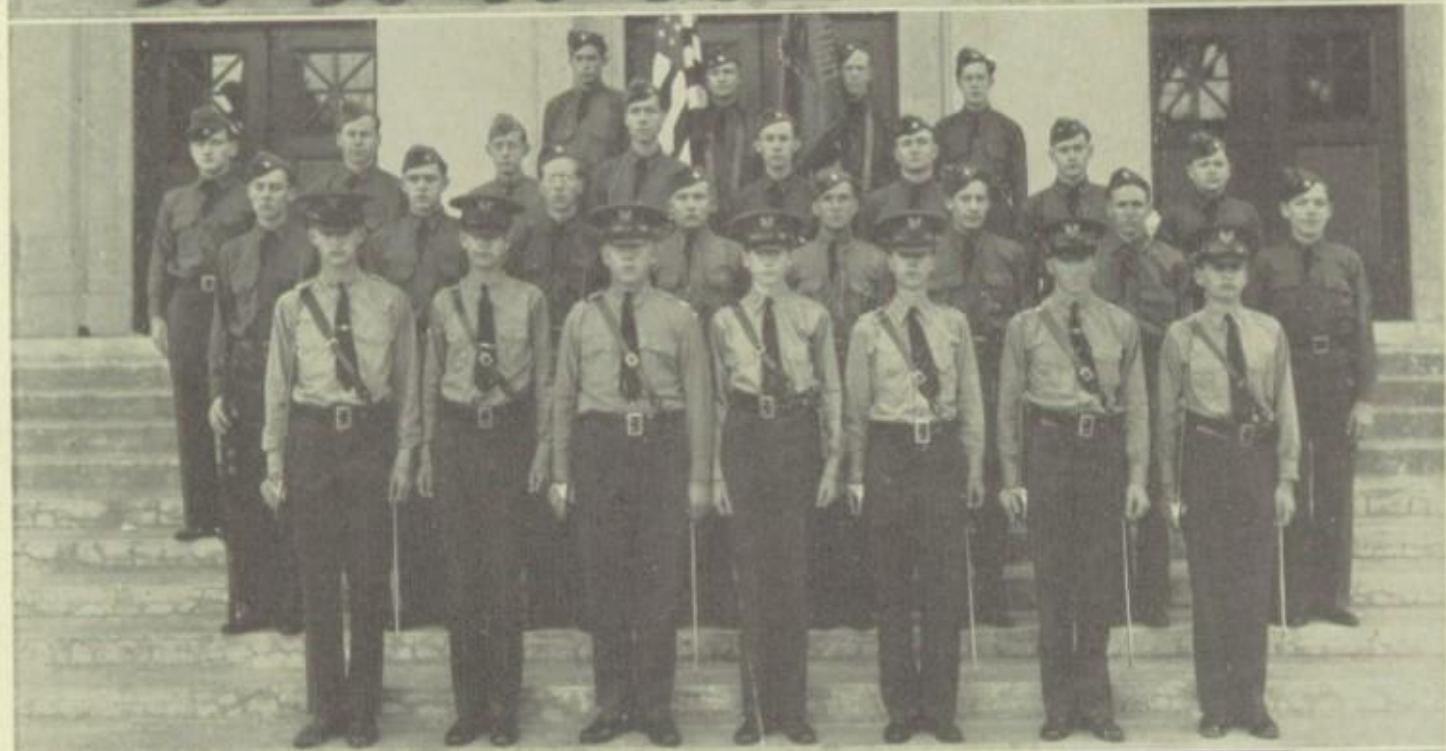

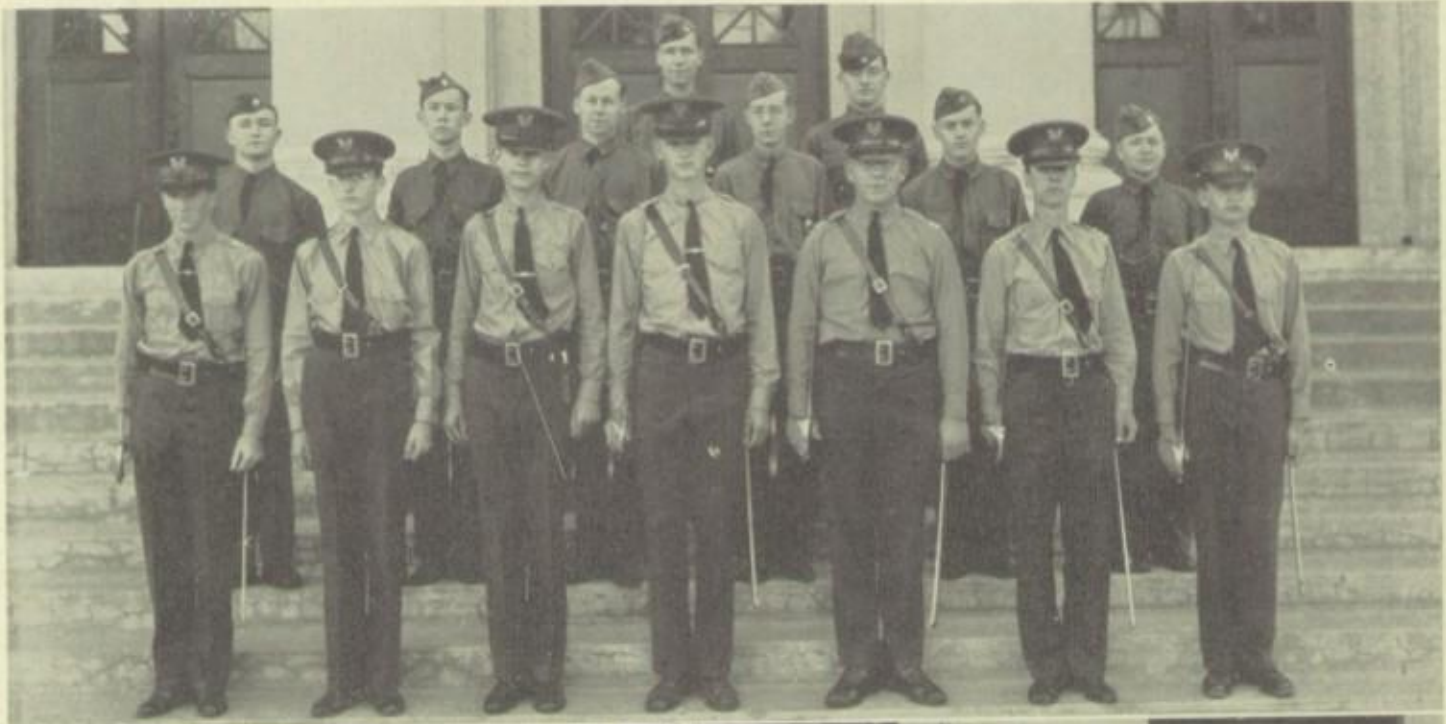

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS

- The Drum and Bugle Corps of the R.O.T.C. is to be commended for the fact that it is an excellent drill unit as well as a musical organization. Cadet Sergeant Francis Bordeaux has trained it to such a degree that it fulfills both roles equally well.

The corps furnishes the field music for the battalion parades and guards which is essential to the success of these ceremonies.

The corps is composed of ten buglers, two drummers, and the corps leader.

SLUMBER

When in sweet slumber deep at night,
My tired and weary soul takes flight,
I soar to places far away,
To happy worlds of joy and play.
It was in this dim realm I stood,
A timid girl, in lost childhood.
But when I tried to join the fun
I woke to find that dawn had come
And then I really understood,
That I had reached full womanhood.

ATHENIAN SOCIETY

- Scholarship combined with a wholesome participation in school activities, are the requirements for membership in Franklin's honor group, the Athenian Society. The members believe not only in being good, but in being good for something.

The Athenian Society is Chapter 200 of the California Scholarship Federation. The motto is "Scholarship for Service".

Among other services, the Athenian Society sponsored again last fall the Athenian Dansant to raise money for charity. It was successfully carried out by the cabinet which included, Karl Kapin, president; Jean Traugher, vice-president; Rita Breslin, secretary; Fern Chambers, treasurer; and Mrs. Pearl McFadden, sponsor.

Upon the resignation of Mrs. McFadden after years of faithful service, she was made an honorary life sponsor. Miss Bessie Gill, former assistant sponsor, became the adviser and under her inspiring guidance, the Society continued to develop.

The officers elected for the spring term were Rosalie Schlossberg, president; Oscar Diez, vice-president; Rebecca Williams, secretary; and Henry Wechsberg, treasurer.

High objectives were set for the monthly meetings. A study of the requirements and activities of other Chapters was made. An orchestra was organized from members of the Athenians, and other forms of entertainment were contributed.

ART CLUB

- The object of the Art Club is to further interest, appreciation, and knowledge of art among Franklin students. In keeping with this plan, a useful art object, such as a picture or an art book, is presented to the school semi-annually by the club. Mrs. Roberts is the sponsor.

The club was not active during the fall semester. The officers for the spring semester were Bill Palmer, president; Grace Hornbeck, vice-president; and Shirley Davis, secretary-treasurer.

BETHANY CLUB

- The purpose of the Bethany Club, sponsored by Miss Wolf, is to build character, through service to others, and to help girls grow into ideal, well-balanced, dependable women.

The club took care of a family of ten at Christmas, gave a program at Utah Street School, and assisted in several other school and city welfare projects.

Club officers for the year were Vera May Mooney, president; Patsy Fowler, vice-president; Phyllis Brecker, treasurer; Winona Walker, song leader; Patsy Palazzolo, pianist; Mary Evelyn Evans, poster chairman. The hostesses were Blanche Morrow, Rita Breslin, Lorraine Jones, Beatrice Stanger, Nelah Roberts, Doris Raymond, Peggy Bay, Rebeccah Williams, Barbara Ketcham, and Jean Traugher.

CHESS CLUB

- The Chess Club sponsors all chess activities at Franklin. It holds many exciting events at school, and to further the interest of chess, takes part in tournaments with other schools. Mrs. Bates is the sponsor.

SONNET

The story of the flowers I'd love to hear,
Of roses climbing high upon the vine,
Of lilacs welcoming the spring each year,
Of mistletoe which hugs the trees to dine,
Of buttercups which blanket fertile plains,
Of dandelions gleaming in the breeze,
Of cowslips hiding in the country lanes,
Of other flowers which lie across the seas.
Perhaps if we could get the honey bee
To buzz in our ears the fragrant tales
Of many different flowers that we see,
Of bygone days of joy on flowered trails,
Then we would know the story of the flowers,
And meditate on it in leisure hours.

RUTH HILLHOUSE AND MARJORIE NELSEN

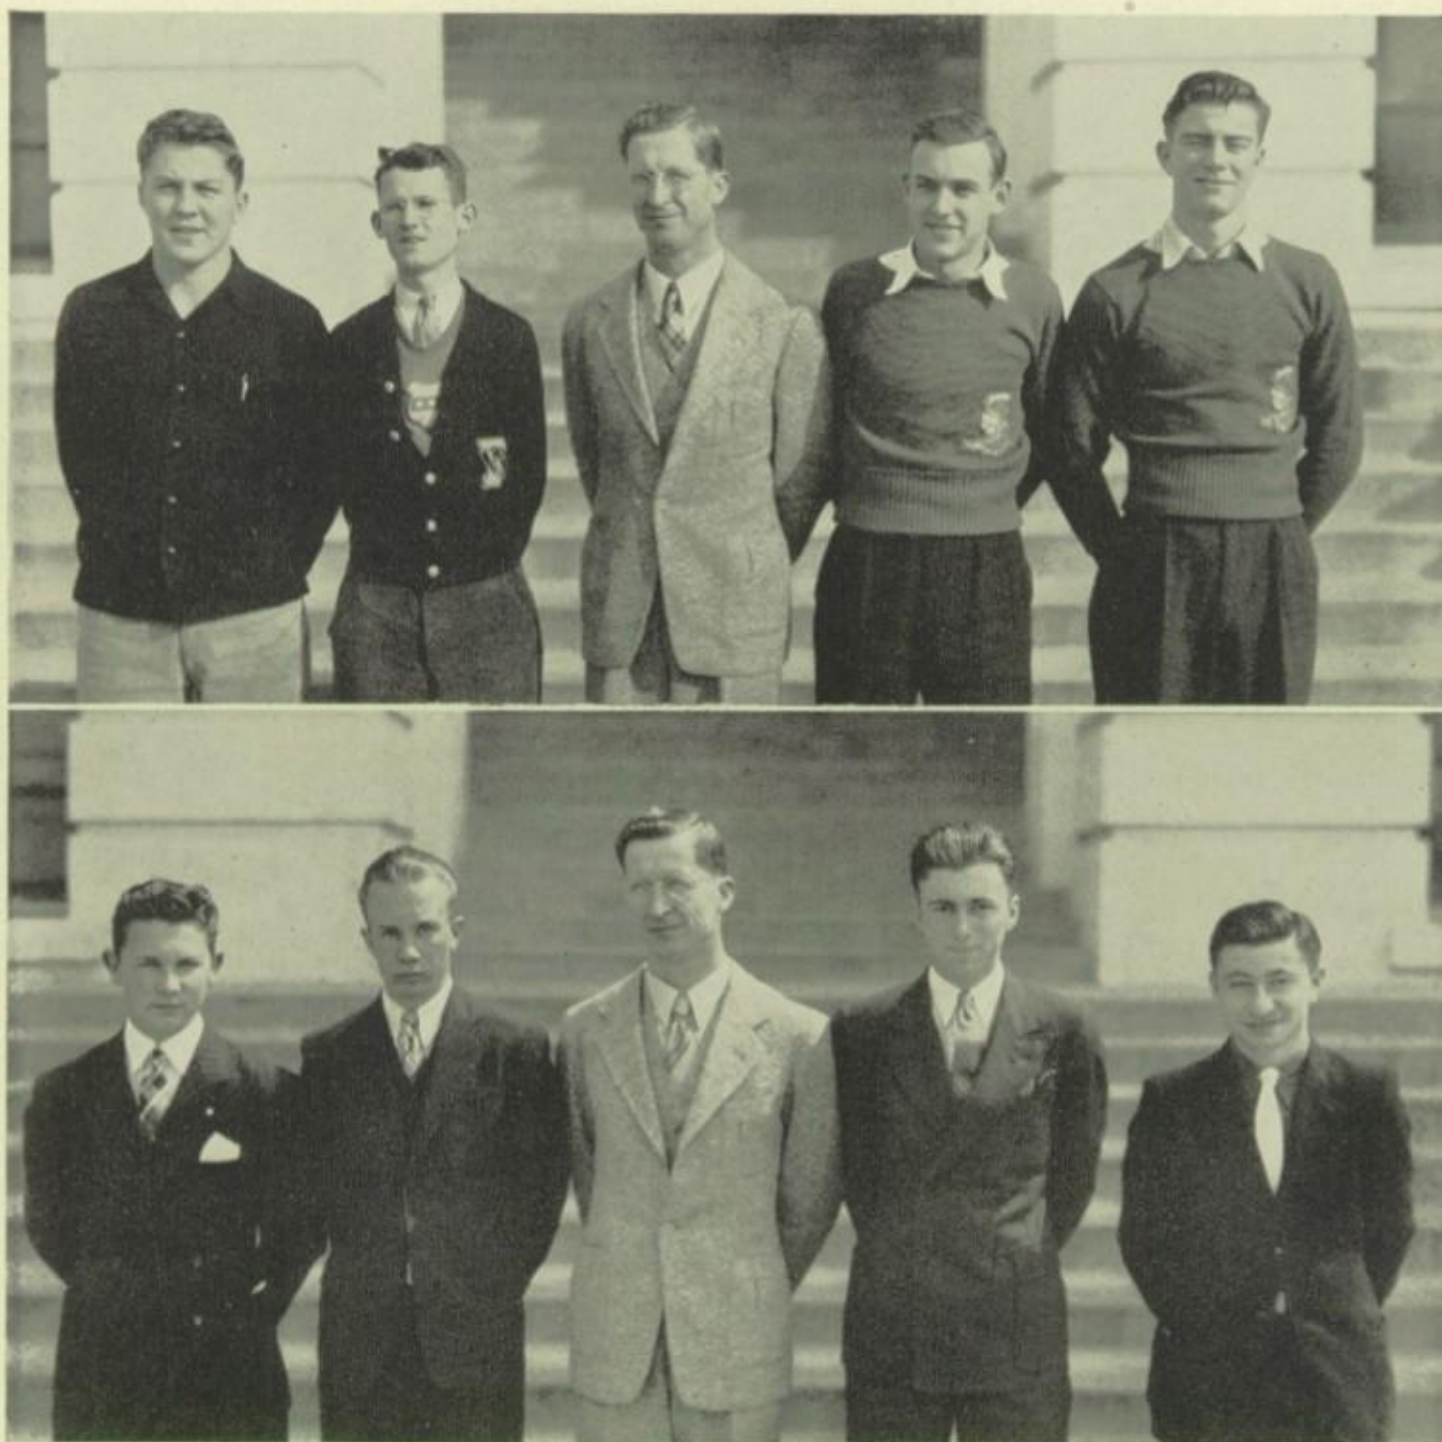

GIRLS' LEAGUE

- Friendship, cooperation, and the promotion of worthy ideals among the girls, have been the objectives of the Girls' League.

The ever-popular Emma Jane Brown as president, was ably assisted by Lorraine Tracy, first vice-president; Mary Phelan, second vice-president; Mariko Takano, secretary; Marjorie Giles, treasurer; and Fayrene Huber, social chairman. The enthusiastic yell leaders were Linda Buckalew, head, with Eleanor Reott and Lois Roberts, assisting.

Friendly Lorraine Jones, as president in the spring, was capably supported by Muriel Honey, first vice-president; Boleyn Bourquin, second vice-president; Ruth Segar, secretary; and Fern Chambers, treasurer. The energetic yell leaders were Eleanor Reott, head, and her assistants were Marjorie Williamson and Dessa Ives. Miss Edith M. Hodgkins is the sponsor of the organization.

BOYS' LEAGUE

- The Boys' League of Franklin High has once again accomplished its objective under the sponsorship of Mr. Fred Axe, boys' vice-principal.

Every boy enrolled in Franklin is a member of the Boys' League, which was organized to promote the high ideals for which our school stands and to encourage and strengthen interest in the various activities of school life.

Good fellowship and closer and warmer friendships among the boys were successfully fostered, as well as the spirit of altruism and philanthropy.

Officers for the winter semester were Warren Hamilton, president; Ted West, vice-president; and Howard Clark, secretary.

For the summer semester, the officers were Gene Runyon, president; Henry Wechsberg, vice-president; and Ray Bly, secretary.

STUDENT COUNCIL

• The Student Council under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert J. Teall, principal, administer the affairs of the student body. Four are elected by the student body, six are ex-officio members, and two are elected by the Council.

The student body members for the fall semester were Bob Smart, Lorraine Jones, Jack Wilson, and Athelene Harvey.

Ex-officio members were Emma Jane Brown, Warren Hamilton, Ruth Ewing, Don Ross, Albert Navsky, and Fred Bluemel.

Elected by the Council were Milton Ballinger and Clarence Schwartz.

CITIZENSHIP CREDIT BOARD

- Under the supervision of Mr. Berger, the Citizenship Credit Board spent a successful year of work. The group was composed of Lorraine Jones and Jack Wilson in the fall semester, and Vivian West and Jim Tillery in the spring semester.

The recorders in the office were Doris Raymond, Adolph Kaufman, Helen Woods, Frances Foster, Tracy Robinson, and Estelle Meyrowitz.

Numerous cases were brought up before court, pupils were interviewed, warned, and advised. The records were made for transmission to the teachers, and filed away in the pupils' citizenship records.

CLASSROOM TREASURERS

- Under the direction of Mr. Atkinson, the classroom treasurers transacted the school business allotted to them, such as selling tickets for the athletic games, school plays, and collecting money for Press and Almanac subscriptions. All business is done during the first ten minutes of the second period.

The classroom treasurer system has been highly successful at Franklin, where it is now concluding its eleventh year of operation. The treasurers are chosen by their teachers because of their efficiency and trustworthiness. By serving the school, they gain valuable training for themselves.

USHERS CLUB

- The Ushers Club, sponsored by Lieutenant Thompson, is a service organization which performs many duties for the school, chief among which are guarding at games, taking tickets at aud calls, and keeping order during performances in the auditorium. The club was also started to further social functions in the R.O.T.C. The members of the club are selected by the head usher, who is usually the Major of the unit, and his assistant.

The officers for the fall term were Cadet Major Robert Hubbs, head usher, and Cadet Captain Lee Moore, assistant. In the spring term Cadet Major Henry Brockschmidt was head usher assisted by Cadet Captain Lee Moore.

ORCHESTRA

- The chief objective of the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Wing, is to give students training and experience in the higher forms of classical music. In addition, the organization serves the school and the community in that they furnish music for assemblies, plays, and community affairs.

Any person having the equivalent of one semester in instrumental training and who is able to conform to standards set by the instructors, is eligible to orchestra membership.

In the winter semester the organization was headed by Cornell Olbright, president; Sammy Mahan, vice-president; Mary Daily, secretary; and Bruce Ingalls, manager.

Cornell Olbright was president for the spring; Eloise Bair, secretary; and Jack Simons, vice-president.

ALMANAC

• The 1937 Almanac staff was the first in several years whose pleasant duty it was to enlarge the book, rather than to decrease the size, as was done for several years during the depression.

This year's annual made a great forward stride toward "normalcy" in Almanacs by the addition of new features, snapshots, cuts, and color plates.

Pan-America was fittingly chosen as the theme of the Almanac, because it is a fine expression of the spirit of friendliness of the United States and also because Franklin, the "friendly school", feels a special kinship for Pan-Americanism, which heralds inter-American friendliness.

The Almanac staff carried out both objectives—the completion of an enlarged yearbook, and the working out of the Pan-American theme—under the leadership of the editor-in-chief and the art editor.

The editor-in-chief was Jean Traughber. Her's was the responsibility of editing the book, planning the layout, and the supervision of her staff. Jean and her staff worked under the supervision of Mrs. Kate Cranon, sponsor.

Jean Traughber had the background in school work which made her an efficient editor-in-chief of the annual. She was a feature editor of the Franklin Press and she was a frequent contributor to the columns of the paper which gave her the necessary writing experience. Her work in editing, writing, and make-up on the Press were invaluable assets on the Almanac.

It was Jean's good fortune to edit an Almanac with a very capable literary staff and a gifted art editor.

The theme "Pan-America" was carried out principally in the art work on the Almanac by Bill Palmer, art editor, and his two assistants, Jesus Manua and Earl Lawrence, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Roberts, art sponsor.

Bill Palmer has had a varied school experience in art projects. For a year he was cartoonist for the Press, enlivening the feature page with timely humorous cartoons and other cuts. Bill has also done some outstanding work in sculpture in Mr. Bjurman's department. A plaque called Labor was submitted to the Allied Arts Festival which won honorable mention for Bill.

For the Almanac, Bill designed and cut all the wood-blocks; made the design for the end pages and other art pieces.

1 9 3 7 A L M A N A C

Jesus Manua did the lettering and Earl Lawrence assisted the editor. Rosalie Schlossberg was the assistant editor of the yearbook. Her versatile experiences as a member of the Press Staff enabled her to write much copy. She wrote the material for the first section of the Almanac, and she also wrote much of the copy for the activity section. In addition she assisted the others wherever and whenever it was needed.

The literary editor, Betty Mulholland, had several duties. She did the club section, corrected proof with the editor-in-chief, and lent assistance wherever work was needed. Betty, like the other editors, had experience on the Press.

Doris Wilson and Don Ernst, both with experience on the Press, were the associate editors. Doris took charge of the Senior sections, collecting and arranging the activities. Don wrote much of the copy in the activity section.

The sports editor, Jim Tillery, edited the sports section with the assistance of Albert Dickey. Jim's work as sports editor of the Press, was of great value to him on the Almanac, as it was for Albert Dickey, assistant sports editor of the Press.

The R.O.T.C. section was done efficiently by the sergeant corporal of Franklin's unit, Glyn Frank-Jones.

John Berry and Dave Leuthje secured advertisements for the yearbook, and their effective work helped financially.

To Mrs. Cranon, journalism instructor, and to Mrs. Roberts, head of the art department, goes the sincere appreciation of the editors. Their devotion to the work was an inspiration to the staff.

Mr. Phoenix of the business office took charge of all the subscriptions and finances.

The cooperation and interest of Mr. Watson, the photographer, Mr. Jackson, the printer, and Mr. Edmunds, the engraver, were greatly valued.

PRESS

- At the close of the nineteenth year of service, the Franklin Press, in keeping with the spirit of the time, modernized its style and make-up by streamlining the paper. The editorial and mechanical staffs responsible for the modernization worked out their plans under the leadership of Charles Goddard, editor-in-chief of Summer '37.

During the year 1936-37, the Franklin Press won a much coveted award when the paper placed second in its class in the nation-wide contest conducted annually by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University. The year previous, the Franklin Press placed third.

The Press also won a special award for editorial writing in a contest sponsored by the Southern California Press Association last fall. The winning editorial, entitled "Harvest Time", was written by Don Ernst, assistant editor of the Press.

Credit for the higher ratings in the year 1937 goes to the combined efforts of some sixty students, who are the editors, reporters, printers, and sponsors.

Albert Navsky and George Schmidt united their talents as co-editors-in-chief. Their work—all the issues of the Press during the first semester—was entered in the Columbia contest. It was also during Navsky's and Schmidt's regime that many improvements in style were adopted that lent simplicity and uniformity to the pages of the Press.

John Kulli proved an asset in every department as managing editor. His willingness and efficiency were welcome contributions to the work. Howard Clark served as assistant editor.

Bill Wheatley produced a live and vital sports page as well as a column, "The Spectator". His assistants were Jim Tillery and Jack Bloomquist.

Charles Goddard, associate editor, displayed ability as back page editor. Bill Palmer and Jean Traugher, feature editors, established the style for their page that rated "A" in the Columbia contest.

Other members of the fall staff were Doris Wilson and Bettina Wintervelt, news editors; Bill Palmer, cartoonist; Franklin Santoni, advertising manager; and Bernard Schmidt, circulation manager.

Without the cooperation of the print shop staff, the work of the journalism class would be in vain. Under the leadership of Mr. Ewart G. Johnston, sponsor, the staffs included, Dave Luethje, Charles Boggs, John Galt, John Clark, Ben Garcia, Byron Shaw, Joe Torres, Lyle Tice, and Norman Rabins.

Under the leadership of Charles Goddard, editor-in-chief, the spring semester saw advancement. Many improvements and changes were made when the spring staff received the "score sheet", from the Columbia University judges. Suggestions and comments were followed in streamlining the Press.

Don Ernst served as assistant editor, and was a valuable asset in writing and editing. Harold Johnson and Bettina Wintervelt, associate editors, planned and made up the back page.

Jim Tillery, veteran from the fall term, held the position of sports editor, and continued the column, "The Spectator". He was assisted by Alan Raven and Albert Dickey.

Ruth Randall and Oscar Diez, feature editors, and Georgia Sanborn, assistant feature editor, carried on the style establishment in the fall semester, in making up the feature page.

Others on the staff for the spring semester were Ruth Navsky and Betty Mulholland, news editors; Bob Prey, municipal editor; Bill Palmer, cartoonist; Franklin Santoni, advertising manager; and Jack Blum, circulation manager.

Mrs. Kate Cranon, journalism instructor, sponsors the Press staff.

FORENSICS

• Into the annals of Franklin's forensic history go the records of the 1936-37 public speaking and debate squads, under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Frank N. Clemensen.

Glyn Frank-Jones became varsity debate captain during the spring semester, a post held by Howard Clark, captain of the fall squad.

The major events of the season both for the squad and student body were the Southern California League debates. Exhibiting true Franklin spirit, the squad emerged victorious twice out of the three league tilts.

Venice	Mary Phelan and Glyn Frank-Jones
Santa Monica	Fred Hill and Glyn Frank-Jones
Huntington Park	Henry Wechsberg and Fred Hill

A new feature of the League this year is the addition of a tournament at the end of the season. This will be a fitting and exciting climax to determine the champion of the year.

Representing Franklin are Fred Hill, Henry Wechsberg, Glyn Frank-Jones, Eloise Bair, Don Hall, and Lloyd Richardson.

Jack Wilson and Bruce Gordon were the two debate managers for the fall and spring semester respectively. Many practice debates were carried out by Margaret Minnice and Betty Bersey, Muriel Hughes and Stella LaBianca, Lloyd Richardson and Rebecca Williams, Jack Blum and Ted Delmar, Thomas Mahoney and Eugene Rodenbury, Henry Wechsberg and Glyn Frank-Jones, Tessie Davis and Gertrude Sparks, at Huntington Park. Lloyd Richardson and Glyn Frank-Jones, Eloise Bair and Fred Hill debated with Manual Arts. Henry Wechsberg and Glyn Frank-Jones, Rebecca Williams and Lloyd Richardson argued at Hollywood.

In the Southern California Debate and Oratorical Contest held at the University of Southern California, Rosalie Schlossberg with a dynamic oration entitled, "Are We Civilized?" captured third place for Franklin.

Bruce Gordon, speaking under the general theme of "Safety" spoke for Franklin in the annual extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored by the Evening Herald and Express.

In the annual Los Angeles Junior College Forensic Tournament, Coach Clemensen has entered three orators: Betty Cochran, Mary Phelan, and Rosalie Schlossberg.

Henry Wechsberg represented Franklin in the Sixth District World Friendship Oratorical Contest. He was victor over Rosalie Schlossberg and Thomas Mahoney.

Those who will continue in the activity of public speaking and debate are Fred Hill, Lloyd Richardson, Eloise Bair, Tessie Davis, Gertrude Sparks, Rebecca Williams, Thomas Mahoney, Eugene Rodenbury, Betty Bersey, Margaret Minnice, Muriel Hughes, Stella LaBianca, Betty Cochran, Jack Blum, Ted Delmar, Dalbert Boyer, and Arthur Brady.

Although the graduation of Mary Phelan, Rosalie Schlossberg, Glyn Frank-Jones, Bruce Gordon, and Henry Wechsberg will be heavily felt, Coach Clemensen is looking forward to the next year with his remaining squad for a successful season, and altogether it may be said,

On for Franklin and Forensics!

DRAMATICS

• When the curtain rises, it is just the beginning of the play for the audience, but for the dramatics department it is the beginning of the end. Many long and tedious hours of rehearsals day after day, far into the night, precede the curtain for the sound crew, the stage crew, and actors, and the directors.

One of the most outstanding productions of the year was "The Stone Lady", a three-act comedy presented by the dramatics department under the direction of Mrs. Helen E. Cochran. This charming comedy hit was about the old legend of Niobe, a beautiful queen who lived many centuries ago, but because she wept so much, she was turned to stone by the angry gods. In the modern comedy, Niobe returns to life, an event packed full of fun.

Leon Aronson portrayed the part of Peter Amos Dunn who got into much trouble with his wife because he tried to pawn Niobe off as the new governess.

Florence Grate took the part of Niobe, the stone statue who comes to life. But when a second stone statue of Niobe arrived, matters became more complicated. The Niobe who came to life, eventually proved to be a fraud who had come there posing as Niobe just to spy on Corney Griffen, a young sophisticated gentleman played by Wray Wolfe.

Others in the cast were Eugenia Lowe, Marguerite Bangs, Howard Cobie, Douglas Brown, Bob Chadwick, Ray Millett, Filberta Montoya, Martha McClure, Dorothy Knight, Joan Gaylor, and Boleyn Bourquin.

"Why the Chimes Rang", was the beautiful Christmas play presented by the dramatics department. The action deals with a miraculous event in the lives of four characters, Holger, Steen, Beetel, and an Old Woman.

For many years the bells in the church were silent. There was a legend that the bells would ring when a perfect gift, coming from the heart of the giver was laid on the altar.

Rich men, wise men, and kings came on Christmas and offered elaborate gifts, but to no avail. When Holger, a young boy, offered his humble gift of a few pennies, the chimes pealed forth in a beautiful melody.

Wray Wolfe portrayed the part of Holger, the older brother; Phil Weideman portrayed the part of an Old Woman; Jack Allen took the part of Bertel, the uncle; and Elihu Slack the part of the younger brother, Steen.

Others in the play were John Gray, Leon Simmons, Lawrence Harshbarger, Marshall Finn, Cliffold Wynne, Evangeline Hanlon, Filberta Montoya, and Joan Gaylor.

The Armistice Day program was a symbolic play entitled, "The Unknown", written by Mrs. Virginia Church of Franklin.

The play was divided into three episodes. The first showed how the mothers, sisters and old folk felt about war; the second showed how the soldiers who had been killed in battle felt about it; and the third, how the ordinary American doughboy saw it.

The actors were Florence Grate, Marian Stich, Peggy Parker, Mary Ellen Hall, Dorothy Knight, Don Ernst, Lawrence Harshbarger, Charles Caccioppo, Cliffold Wynne, Wray Wolfe, Leon Aronson, Douglas Brown, Paul Lane, and Jack Allen.

"WHY THE CHIMES RANG"

A mystery play written by Marshall Finn who directed and took a leading part in it, was called "The Lost Will".

Yvonne McDonald and Jack Allen had the leads. Charles Caccioppo had the role of the inspector who finally solved the case. Leon Aronson provided much humor in his presentation of the tough cop. Others in the play were Don Ernst, Marshall Finn, Phil Weideman, Cliffold Wynne, Lucile Barnes, John Gray, Jeanne Frank, Wray Wolfe, and Florence Grate.

One of the most stirring plays of the year was a one-act play entitled "The Valiant". This play was the touching story of a condemned prisoner. Leon Aronson, who usually takes comedy roles, had a chance to portray a serious one in the character of the Warden.

Father Daly was played by Ray Millette. Wray Wolfe portrayed James Dyke, "The Valiant". Don Ernst had the role of Dan, the old jailer who had seen many men die, but never one like this. Helen Parsons had the part of the Young Girl.

Mrs. Helen E. Cochran was the director of all plays.

As a crowning event for a successful dramatic season, Wray Wolfe won the much coveted award of first place at the annual Shakespeare Festival held at Occidental College. Eugenia Lowe also represented Franklin High at this event.

PAN-AMERICANA

Our President said some months ago
That we must show our love to neighbors on the South.
So on a ship of white he sailed and to each ruler said in friendly spirit true
These few words, that echo down the years:
"We must be friends, you and we.
What will we gain by having ill-will and strife?
What have we gained by tearing each other's throats?"
Some will say with gay braggadocio—
"The right of democracy, peace and freedom?"
And others with conviction will murmur:
"A war we must have to end all wars."
But the rulers of Pan-America
Will have other things to say;
They, like our President, feel
That as the pen is mightier than the sword,
So friendship is stronger than strife.
And to that end they all will strive
To understand more clearly, what "Pan-America" really means.

VARSIITY FOOTBALL

- After defeating Eagle Rock in a practice game, the Franklin varsity football team, hampered by lack of experienced players, was defeated in three straight games.

The high spot of the season was the Garfield game, in which the sickly Panther suddenly came to life, and led by Orv Hatcher's 98 and 65 yard touchdown dashes, clawed the Bulldogs for a 19-0 victory, their only league win. In the final game, the Panthers met their traditional rivals, Lincoln, and after sixty minutes of battling, found the count knotted, 0 to 0.

This game saw Ted West, Joe Pedrotti, KiYi Dechon, Kern Tice, Fred Bluemel, George Wagner, Andy Chiappe, Bill McCarthy, Ray Stansauk, and LaVerne Tieman end their high school grid careers with merit.

B FOOTBALL

- Climaxing the pigskin season with a 13 to 7 win over their traditional rivals from Lincoln, Coach Tony Spangler's class B football team, after five games, found itself in a third place tie with Lincoln and Belmont.

Throughout the year, the work of Ryan, Berry, Ezmerlian, Cassidy, Chiappe, Mayfield, Mauna, and Milstein on the line, and Captain Bob Smart, Lee, Stewart, Rameriz, and Price in the backeld, was outstanding. At the end of the season these players received letters.

Late in the year, the Bens tied a powerful Garfield squad and then downed a supposedly superior Lincoln eleven in the final game of the year.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

- Headed by Coach Duke and Co-captains Don Ross and Earl Quibell, the Franklin varsity hoopsters turned in a fair season again.

After winning more than half of their practice games, the locals managed to win two of their five league tussles, defeating Belmont and Marshall. These games were featured by the work of the local guards, Gene Runyan and Johnny Broughten.

The outstanding scorer of the year was Don Ross, who tallied 26 points in five games. He was closely followed by Tom Fuller, who scored 25 points in four games. Dick Bradford, performing at center, was the other starter for the locals and turned in several good games.

B BASKETBALL

- After a season which saw them drop their first three starts and win the two last games, the Franklin lightweight basketball team, mentored by Coach Duke, ended the year in a tie for third place.

The standouts of the team throughout the year, were Wendel Ritzius and Captain Chet Smith, who performed at forward and guard respectively. Chet landed a guard berth on the all-city team.

The climax of the year was the Lincoln game when the locals ran over their traditional rivals for a 41 to 26 win.

Letter winners included, beside Smith and Ritzius, Almada, Blatchley, Harbeck, Leininger, Moser, Quibell, Raven, and Tompkins.

1 9 3 7 A L M A N A C

A TRACK

- After starting out with a spurt, Coach Spangler's Franklin varsity track squad slowed up on the backstretch, and finished in a tie for third place with 2 wins and 2 defeats.

The outstanding individual of the squad was Bob Prey, who scored 48 points in dual meets, and went on to enter the state meet. Ross Walker, Don Boyer, and Captain Le Roy Cruce were also strong contributors to the local point total.

At the time of writing, Franklin was expected to enter at least eight men in the league meet, with a chance of figuring high in the final standings. Weisman, Boyer, Santoni, and Antista, who competed with the varsity in dual meets were dropped to the B team for the league meets.

B TRACK

- This year's lightweight track and field team was very unsuccessful in its dual meets because several of its members vacated their positions in order to perform on the varsity.

The B's won none of their dual meets, their closest rival being Belmont, who defeated them 51 to 44.

High point winners were Morris Denton, 660; Sherwin Stewart, pole vault and hurdles; Norbert Rameriz, sprinter; and Kenny Jacques, broad jumper.

Other good men were Johnson, 1320; Ryan, hurdler; Bowman and Ward, sprinters.

VARSITY BASEBALL

- The dark spot of the past sport year was the disastrous performance of the varsity hardball team. Playing in the specially formed Northern-Southern League, the Panthers, coached by Lee Duke, found themselves in the cellar at the end of the year with only one win to balance six defeats.

The best individual work was turned in by Johnny Berry, catcher, Stan Kading and Royal Lininger, infielders, and Pedrotti in the outfield. The pitching was done by Phillips, McCamey, and Broughten, McCamey winning the only game, a 4 to 1 triumph over Marshall.

SOFTBALL

- Something new and comparatively successful on the school sport calendar this year, was the introduction of softball.

The teams were coached by Mr. Hess, and after copping four games from the Lincoln Tigers, two from Belmont, and one from Garfield, the locals wound up in a tie for second place with seven wins against five defeats.

Ray Roberts, fireball pitcher, was the strong man of the squads, winning four of the six games he pitched. Bob Hoyle, pitching for the number two team, also turned in some good performances.

TENNIS

- With four wins and one loss as their record, Franklin's band of racketeers finished the season in second place. The Bens suffered their only loss when they dropped the opener to John Marshall.

After this defeat, Coach Gilbert's lads swamped Lincoln, Belmont, Garfield, and finished the season with an easy win over the Roosevelt Rough Riders.

Nolan McQuown, National Boys' Doubles Champion, led the locals by winning five straight matches. Captain Alan Raven, Elwin Craigmile, Oliver Jones, and Bob Harbeck all turned in good singles performances, while the doubles teams of Frank Hites-Sid Finegold and Douglas Hirst-Jack Walker won the majority of their matches.

APPARATUS

- With wins over Lincoln and Belmont and defeats at the hands of Roosevelt and Garfield, the gymnastic team, under the capable guidance of Coach McCollom, had an average season.

As was expected, they finished third in the Northern League finals with 30½ points.

Harold R. Johnson was high point gainer of the season with the total of 61 digits in the four dual meets and the league finals.

Ted West and Ray Burch followed Johnson closely for this honor. William Bennett, who placed in the city finals, Harold Woods, and Bob Prey also gained many points in various events for the Panthers.

ATHLEDELPHIANS

- During the past year, the Athledelphian Society once again became known as the energetic organization it had been in former years.

The function of the organization is to supervise the wearing of letters, and to authorize wearing of letterman sweaters.

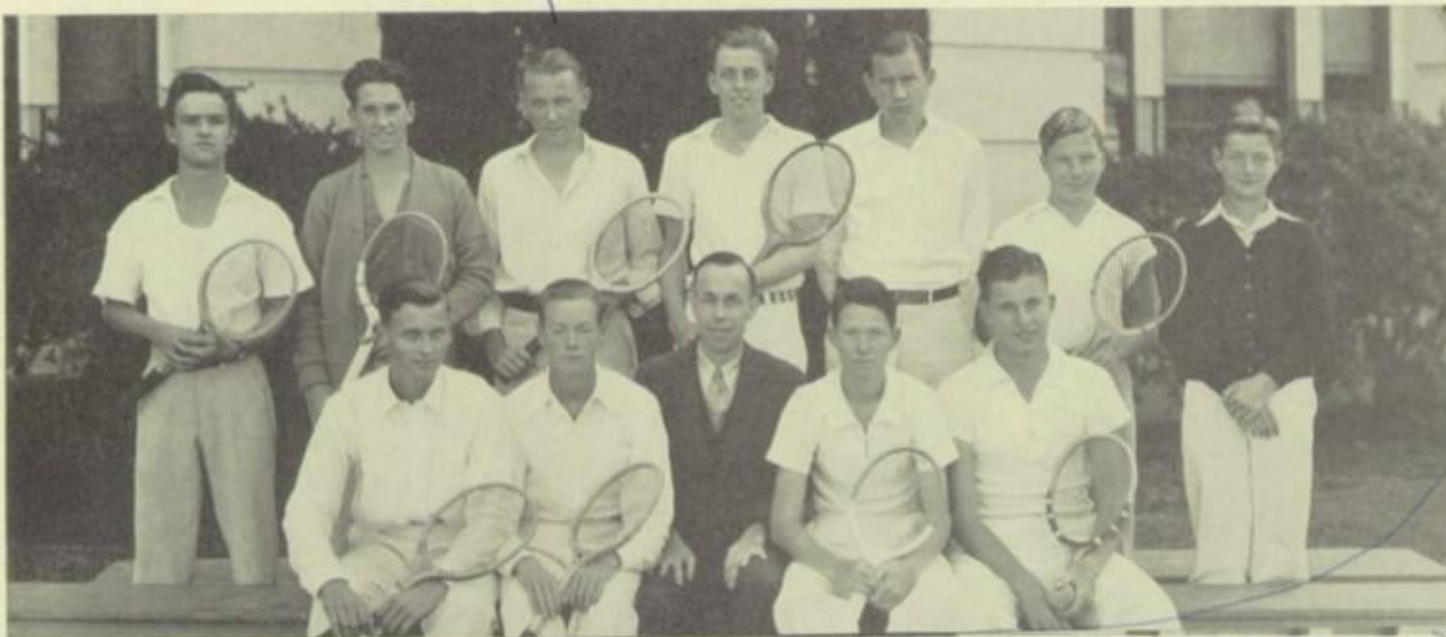

Coach Spangler, Coach Duke, and Mr. Downing acted as joint sponsors of the group, and George Wagner, and Bill McCarthy served as presidents in the fall and spring terms respectively. In the fall, Joe Pedrotti was vice-president, and John Freriks, secretary. LaVerne Tieman was vice-president during the spring semester, and Jordan Ryan, secretary. Bob Quibell acted as treasurer.

G.A.A. LETTERMEN

- Seventeen girls received letters the past year in the G.A.A., ranging from the unusual six star letter to plain letters. Fayrene Huber earned the six star; Virginia Bishop, a four star; and Boleyn Bourquin, Virginia McConnell, and Bernice Morris, three stars.

Mary White received a two star letter, and Dorothea Lea, Valerie Hill, and Mary Seifert, one star. Bonita Mann, Edna Disney, Marjorie Williamson, Maxine Barasa, Mary Jane Pore, Mary Rampone, Margaret McKeehan, and Linda Buckalew, earned plain letters.

FEATURES

Dear Carl,
It looks like our paths will soon be parting yours, back to Franklin - mine one salient fact remains, that brings to mind our long friendship and close association throughout our school years.
Our talents have differed greatly yet, we are the best of friends. I can't tell a flat from a B sharp but I still enjoy your company. Your talent is genuine and if you follow music (live it, Carl) you will be truly great. You have a knack of producing tunes from almost anything which will carry you far. Remember that string quartet for no tana, that string quartet, which is novel among high schools because of the expert musicianship required. This group of four might someday be world famous. It all depends on your originality of arrangements and persistence, perseverance to the job. Be much as good music. "After all, no human are barbarians; we enjoy good music,
and that's the kind of music."
So keep it up, Carl, and all
be on hand for your concert debut. From a friend who has really enjoyed
all these years
together with you
H. A. Johnson
